“ My deepest sympathy to the DeBoy family. The years that I have known Dot, I knew that she her to love her family deeply. She was a gift to all who met her, so thoughtful and kind. I loved her as friend and a mother figure and felt we had a special bond. She would send home cooked meals for Darren and Cheryl that I had the pleasure to enjoy on many occasions. I loved to visit with her. (Although too few and far between). I will cherish that special bond we shared forever. She knew me well. I remember when she was into making bracelets she would always make me one that matched what I was wearing on the day I received it from Darren. That's how I know we had special connection. May you rest in peace, Dot.

Oh, I am so sorry. I’m glad that I got to see her in the hospital awhile back with Lori. I just lost both my parents - 4 weeks apart. It’s the hardest thing in all of this world. Praying for strength for your family!
