“Hoot was the first person that I met when I moved to Arkansas. From that moment on, we were constant companions, sharing some of the best of times and a few bad ones. When I left Arkansas, with tears in my eyes, he was the last person that I said good-bye to. Today I have to say good-bye again, but I will be there with him in spirit at the cemetery. Rest in Peace old friend, I will think of you often and remember you always.
