“ My deepest sympathy on the death of a father, grandfather. Grief is natural and you will all react in your own way. You Christina, and your family took great care of your dad, and should be proud of yourselves. It could not have been easy towards the end. I keep you in my prayers. May your memories be only those of good times.##imported-begin##Cheryl Perry##imported-end##

“ Andrew, I understand you had a visit from your grandpa in the early morning hours today. You awoke drenched in sweat and very upset. Calling for me to share the message Grandpa Cox brought to comfort you, and this is what he said, \"He said, don't , be sad or cry, but I know you will. It was my time to go and I was ready. I will always be watching over you all. You all need to move on with your lives. Brantley is getting big and will be strong like Aaron. I hope Aaron does good in the future. You boys were good to me and always were there for me. Your dad is smart and I thank him for all of his help.\"

He said, \"I am happy were I am, and Grandma says hello!\" Andrew noted our dad his grandpa to appear healthy as a horse.

Grandpa new this would be hard on you He would watch you tear up, and knew you'd miss him. He appreciates what you have done for him.

“ dear James, Christina, Aaron and Andrew Carter: you all took wonderful care of your father. Your grandfather left so many memories with your friends. Your grandpa would sing, and play the guitar and your mom would sing with him. He enjoyed giving sermons in church, playing his guitar, harmonica, banjo, piano and mandolin. Your family has a long history of being involved with the church and singing at churches. Your grandparents were family oriented. I am glad Christina was involved with her father a lot throughout his life.

God Bless Your Family You Were all SPECIAL TO HIM.##imported-begin##kayla##imported-end##
