“ and she brought so much light into the room." This was my first thought of you and oh so true! Nobody, glows as bright as you. I'm thankful the last time I saw you that we had a good hug. I am truly blessed to have just a little bit of that light shine on me. I know your soul, spirit, and consciousness will live forever. Till we meet again my friend. Fare you well, fare you well, I love you more than words can tell.
