“ My condolences to Peggy, Maureen and Marianne. It seems just yesterday our parents were sitting together every week playing bridge at my parent’s kitchen table. What a great memory and neighborhood to grow up in. I spoke to your mom a couple months ago. Her mind was sharp as ever, but she said her body was failing her. It was time for the big card game in heaven. Our parents were the best of friends. My dad took my twister game board and painted, Go Purdue, and pointed at your house. I guess it was the response to the Irish sign hanging off your backdoor. My sister and I will forever be grateful for the Mahoney family. Lots of love,

Julie Wallin Kinzie
