Rag Doll

Her folks were poor when she was small; A dolly made of rags was all her mother could afford to buy.....in vain for Princess dolls she'd sigh.

When fortune smiled her mother bought the kind of dolls she'd always sought: Expensive dolls with silken curls....she was the happiest of girls!

It's funny how the years can fly...now side by side her dollies lie, but when she dreams of childhood charms, the rag doll nestles in her arms!! By: Nick Kenny

“ I am so sad to hear of Mildreds death. When I moved here to Crown Point 30 yrs. ago Mildred was one of the first friends I made. She introduced me to many wonderful people and encouraged me to join the Heritage Quilters and Hub Dollies club. Later we were members of the Red Hat group "Yesterdays little girls". I also joined the Alter and rosary Society of St. Marys with her. We often had lunch together and visited over coffee and desserts. She and Lawrence treated me like a daughter and I was always so greatfull for their company. I will never forget her and our special friendship. My deepest sympathies to her daughter Debbie and Debbies family. Sincerely, Debbie Jamison
