“Everybody loved Nancy, and she could always tell my twin and I apart. She was a few months older than we were, and we made sure that we she knew that she was older than we were until we caught up to her age later that year. One time when Nancy visiting my family in Baltimore, we were ready to eat and didn't know where Nancy was. I went downstairs to the basement to look for her. She was sitting on the floor in a corner of the family room. I asked her what she was doing. She said that the pastor had said during the sermon of the morning, that we should all pray more so that is what she was doing. We'll miss you.

“I have fond memories of Nancy visiting Baltimore when I was younger. She would come stay with my Grandparents (her Aunt and Uncle) for a few weeks every summer. We would sit together in the chaise lounge and work word searches together.

“I'll always remember how Nancy loved to learn about the Lord at Central Baptist Church in Hobart. She would sit in the front of the church, listening intently.
She was a friendly and loving friend.

“ Nancy was always the photographer! She never got mad at Rick when he called her "Nanny goat." If Rick didn't tease her Nancy thought he was mad at her. Many years ago we all went out to a bar and took Nancy with us. She thought she was drinking liquor but Rick told the bar tender to make them without booze. The next day was Easter and Nancy thought she was hung over so she couldn't help with dishes. She had a good time dancing even when she didn't have a partner. I think Scott got on his knees and danced with her that night. What a sweetheart! Rest with the angels Nancy! Love you, Rick and Carol Harris
