“ Steven was a very unique person. He always thought more of others than he did himself and he was always quick to help a person in need even when it was obvious to others that they were taking advantage of him. He was able to make friends with animals in an amazing way. That will be one of his traits that will always be remembered.

I will always remember !!!Steven as a 10 years old boy.Steven was riding his bike on Spruce Rd in Homewood.Steven was a huge fan of bike riding.He always would be smiling...would wave at me. And say..." How are you doing Rosemary??!" I would respond...I am hanging in here!!

As Steven grew older ...he was always a avid bike rider.

I would see him all around our village on his bike.He seemed to know a lot of people...he would stop and chat ...with friends..A naturally friendly guy..

He made his way to Indiana..I had not seen Steven in good while..But! I will always remember Steven..with a huge.. .smile on his face...riding on his bike with the wind blowing in his hair and face.
