“ One of the most respected men that I ever met. Everyone loved Ted. It was my pleasure having him as a customer, fellow employee at Riverside Refractories and most importantly a great friend. A man who gave unconditionally with never seeking anything in return. Marsha and I especially enjoyed our friendship with Ted and Jane and the many great times spent together. A great couple. The love of his life. Ted loved and was very proud of his girls, their husbands and grandchildren.

Unfortunately life doesn't always take the path that we want. After losing Jane - Ted struggled with multiple health issues. During our discussions the past couple of years he told me two things: don't wait to retire and that he was thankful that his special friend Barb was there to help him down that path. We will deeply miss our friend..... I took his advice and retired!

“Ted is an old school gentleman and nicest conversationalist that supported his friends and family. Always would show up with a pot of his home made sausage and sauerkraut. Good people! Erica and I would like to send our deepest condolences to the family. He will be missed by many.
