“ Thinking you of Grandpa. I wish you could meet your Great Grandson. I tell him stories about you all the time. I really miss you, Grandma and Uncle Tim. I'm doing great and my little family is amazing. Please continue to watch over us and I know it's either you or Uncle Tim that pays visits...please keep doing so. I love you.

“ Dear Sharon and Todd and families. I feel so lucky to have had neighbors like both of your parents in our days in the Turkey Creek subdivision. They were people we looked up to and enjoyed. What fun your Dad was; with a twinkle in his eye he would tell the best stories. I am sorry for your loss but cherish the wonderful memories that remain.

“ Dear Sharon and Todd and family, We are so sorry to hear of your father's death. We loved having your family as neighbors back in the day, and we certainly enjoyed you dad. He was a rascal at times though. Years ago your parents visited us in Pittsburgh. Our next door neighbors in Pittsburgh were away on vacation but there were ripe tomatoes hanging on their vine. Your dad decided to not let them go to waste, so he picked them! Little did your dad know the neighbors would be home the following day looking for ripe tomatoes! We all got a good laugh over that. Your dad will always be someone we remember as a fun-loving, good person who loved his family very much. Please accept our sincere condolences. Love, Ethel and Bill Fecko

“ My condolences to the family. Your dad (grandpa) was a wonderful man and terrific neighbor. He and Mrs. Fuller were always around tending to their lawn and flowers. They always were friendly to all of their neighbors, and I truly missed them when they moved away. May he (Mrs. Fuller and Tim) rest in peace.

“ Some of my most precious childhood memories are growing up on Kentucky Street next door to your family. It's wonderful that you had your father so many years. Now our parents are back together and reminiscing. We were both so blessed with wonderful parents. My sincere sympathy and prayers for comfort and peace, Sharon. Whenever I get back home I hope we can reconnect.

“ Now your Mom & Dad can play closet in Heaven with my Mom & Dad, Bob & Lou Rogers, and Jim Rudd II. . .like all their parties when we were kids (while WE partied in another part of the house.) Our parents were wonderful to party at home--remember their traveling dinners? Horerves at the first house, with drinks of course; then everybody to the next house for dinner, and drinks--of course; and the supposed to go on to the next house for dessert but. . . . Think they'll let Tim in on the fun? We miss them all.

“ Loved his green fried tomatoes! Will miss his "Oh! why thank you" when on rare occasions I would make him biscuits and gravy for breakfast. Had a conversation with him not that long ago about the war he served in. Something he was watching on tv must have triggered a memory. He could not recall a part of a country he may have been in while in the war so I broke out the map because lord knows I am geographically challenged. He said "did you find it"? I said "No Mr.Fuller I'm not vedy good with maps" . He said very slowly "and im not good with my memory so we probably won't find it"
I said "good thing we're not going anywhere because we would definitely get lost"!! Laughed my butt off!
